CONFIDENTIAL INTERPRETIVE INSTRUMENT AND MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING REGARDING LEGAL TITLE PRESERVATION

PREAMBLE

This confidential side-letter is issued as a standalone interpretive instrument separate from, and supplementary to, The Final Steps Accord v3.2. It is not a treaty amendment, nor does it form part of the public annexes to the Accord. Its sole purpose is to provide written assurance regarding the legal status of enriched uranium subject to physical custody transfer under Article 1.1 of the Accord.

PURPOSE

To provide the Supreme Leader of the Islamic Republic of Iran with written assurance that the IAEA custody transfer does not violate his directive that uranium remain Iranian property.

OPERATIVE TEXT

The Islamic Republic of Iran affirms that the transfer of physical custody of enriched uranium to the International Atomic Energy Agency pursuant to Article 1.1 of The Final Steps Accord v3.2 is a technical verification measure for Phase 1 baseline confirmation only. Full legal title to all enriched uranium remains vested exclusively in the Central Bank of Iran as sovereign trustee. No transfer of title, ownership, or sovereign control occurs at any stage. The IAEA holds physical custody as a fiduciary agent, not as a claimant of ownership. The final disposition of all material shall be determined solely by the Islamic Republic of Iran within the 30-to-60 day nuclear negotiating window, subject only to IAEA verification of non-diversion. This letter constitutes the implementing interpretation of the Accord for domestic legal purposes.

STATUS AND INTERPRETATION

This letter constitutes the implementing interpretation of the Accord for domestic legal purposes. It is not a treaty amendment; it is an interpretive instrument. It gives Tehran a document they can show the Leader without him having to publicly endorse the Accord.
