

COORDINATION MEMORANDUM

TO: Lead Mediators & Negotiation Teams (US, Iran, Oman, Switzerland, Pakistan, Qatar)
FROM: Joint Secretariat
SUBJECT: Coordination Actions — Advancing the Deal (May 24–25, 2026)
STATUS: Ongoing
VERSION: v3.4

Core structural compromises on the Final Steps Accord v3.4 and its associated annexes have been provisionally stabilized pending final political execution. Key elements include HEU custody, Day 7 dual-trigger, Hormuz governance, Lebanon firewall, and Israel coordination.

What remains is political execution. The following five considerations may help guide the Accord across the finish line.

Interpretive and Operational Scope

This memorandum is interpretive and operational in nature. It does not supersede negotiated text, create binding obligations, or constitute an official position of any participating state. Recipients are reminded of the strict confidentiality classification of this document.

1. Address the Day 45 Default Mechanism

CONTEXT

Hardline factions in Tehran are stalling to prevent any deal. They are leaking negative stories and testing whether delay can force better terms.

SUGGESTED APPROACH

US and guarantor negotiators may wish to communicate, through back-channels, the procedural continuity built into the framework. If the nuclear negotiating window reaches Day 45 without an agreed disposition pathway, the Accord defaults to Pathway A (in-country downblending to 19.75% LEU at Esfahan), verified by IAEA within 7 days.

Talking Points for Mediators

“The framework preserves continuity and predictability in the absence of a mutually agreed alternative pathway. The default disposition mechanism ensures that technical progress is maintained regardless of negotiating timelines.”

2. Neutralize the PGSA – GCC Territorial Dispute

CONTEXT

Iran's PGSA issued a new map on May 20 claiming jurisdiction over UAE and Omani territorial waters. Five Gulf states have protested to the IMO. This unilateral move threatens the maritime compromise.

SUGGESTED APPROACH

The United States and the GCC (or at minimum the UAE and Oman) are encouraged to consider issuing a joint declaratory statement along the following lines:

- The JHTA's jurisdiction is strictly limited to the international transit corridor.
- The JHTA has no authority over the territorial waters of Oman, the UAE, or any other littoral state.
- Only the JHTA (not the PGSA) may collect transit fees or issue international transit permits.

Purpose: Such a statement would directly counter Iran's expanded map, reassure Gulf partners, and re-anchor the maritime regime to the Accord's text.

3. Deliver the US-Israel Reassurance Letter via Tel Aviv Channel

CONTEXT

Israel has expressed concerns regarding a framework that leaves Iran's nuclear infrastructure intact, excludes ballistic missile provisions, and does not address Hezbollah re-armament. Israeli officials have raised questions about adequate consultation.

SUGGESTED APPROACH

It is recommended that the US-Israel Reassurance Letter be delivered through the Tel Aviv Channel (Article 16) prior to the public announcement, to provide timely context for Israeli decision-makers.

Key Assurances in the Letter (already drafted):

- Day 45 default is verified, subject to IAEA monitoring protocols.
- No missile-related sanctions relief is provided; existing missile sanctions remain in force.
- The Lebanon Dossier Isolation Firewall (Annex L.2.2) ensures a Hezbollah attack cannot trigger Core Accord collapse unless directly ordered by Iran's Supreme Leader and confirmed by the UNSC within 72 hours.
- Nothing in the Accord alters existing regional security postures or sovereign self-defense authorities under international law.

Purpose: To provide relevant context for Israeli decision-makers prior to the public announcement.

4. Activate the Day 7 Dual-Trigger Dashboard

CONTEXT

The most sensitive moment is the 60-second window on Day 7. Any technical failure or hesitation could disrupt the synchronized blockade-lift and Hormuz opening.

SUGGESTED APPROACH

A full dry-run of the Swiss Dashboard “Armed Standby” and simultaneous-trigger protocol is recommended no later than 24 hours before Day 7. The following items merit verification:

- Both liaison offices have working encrypted links.
- Both HSMs can transmit the “ready” authentication token within the required 5-minute window.
- The auto-void failure mode triggers correctly if a token is missing.

Backup Protocol: If the trigger aborts, the 48-hour technical grace period may be activated immediately. A second trigger within the first 24 hours is not advised without Triad consensus.

5. Execute the Parallel Principal-Spokesperson Announcement Protocol

CONTEXT

The “sequencing trap” — each capital needs its own framing of the same text. A sequential announcement would allow the other side to establish the dominant narrative first.

SUGGESTED APPROACH

The simultaneous announcement protocol is available for use as scripted:

- US Principal Representative (Washington/New Delhi) delivers the Washington narrative (Article 1.1 — physical custody, US monitoring access).
- Iranian Principal Representative (Tehran/Geneva) delivers the Tehran narrative (Article 1.3 & 1.5 — legal title, deferred disposition, no US veto).

Both speak within the same 60-second window, coordinated through the Swiss Dashboard.

If one side is unable to speak at T=0, the other is encouraged to wait as well; a resumption after 24 hours may be considered.

Press Release: Following the statements, the Joint Secretariat may issue the pre-drafted neutral press release (PR-20260524-SAPJS-v1.0). The release contains no spin — only facts that both sides can endorse.
